

Call for Papers "Política, Revista de Ciencia Política"

(No. 1, July 2024)

Política, Revista de Ciencia Política is a biannual publication from the School of Government at the Universidad de Chile since 1982. Its objective is to disseminate research generated in the main currents of political science, aiming toward the consolidation of this discipline in Chile and Latin America. This is a peer-reviewed open-access journal with no article publication fees.

The journal's 2023 Number 2 will be published in July 2024. It will address issues related to Indigenous people and Democracy. We will co-edit this number with Verónica Figueroa Huencho (PhD), academic from the School of Government at the University of Chile and main researcher of the Fondecyt's project: Governance and Indigenous Public Policies.

Articles and other relevant themes are also welcome for the journal's permanent call for papers, which will also be considered for this issue. Political science, public policy, and social science papers dealing with political power issues widely understood are welcome.

Articles must be submitted through the platform on the journal's website: <https://revistapolitica.uchile.cl/> following its editorial guidelines, with a maximum length of 8,000 words. All papers will undergo a double-blind review process. Original articles are welcome in Spanish, English, and Portuguese. Accepted articles will be published in the first issue of July 2024. Article submissions for this issue will be received until May 3rd, 2024.
